Weekend accidents took a heavy toll on Illinois highways.

A United Press survey showed at least 19 persons died from 6 p. m. Friday until midnight Sunday. Ten deaths occurred downstate, and nine in Chicago and its suburbs.

An auto crashed into a tree near the intersection of U. S. 150 and Ill. 78 three miles northwest of Brimfield Sunday, killing John L. Sepich, 20, Galesburg. Two companions were hurt.

Ronald L. Rabel, 18, Decatur, was struck and killed by an auto in Decatur Sunday. Police charged the driver, Jesse C. Wolf, Decatur, with reckless homicide.

Eleven-year-old Allen Erickson was injured fatally at Rock Island Saturday when he was hit by a car. The boy was the son of a political science professor at Augustana college.

Other downstate victims of fatal accidents were Clare Summers, 29, McLeansboro; Donald Rodier, 27, Springfield; Terry Reagan, 2, Marquette; Raymond Stedman, 23, Spring Valley; and Vicky Danison, 1, Urbana.

William Mayfield of Pulaski was killed Saturday night when his pickup truck hit a utility pole on U. S. 51 south of Mound City.

FATHER AND SON in unique incident at the Methodist conference Saturday morning. At right is the Rev. M. A. Souers, who retired as an active Methodist minister during the conference held in Harrisburg last week. He has been in the ministry 48 years, the last ten in Pinckneyville. He and Mrs. Souers will live in Mt. Vernon. But the family name will remain on the list of active ministers as the son, the Rev. Judson Souers, left, was received into the conference on trial during the Saturday morning service. The Rev. Judson Souers has been pastor of the Thebes Methodist church and will be graduated from Southern Illinois university with the class of 1966. He will enter Garrett Biblical Institute at Northwestern university. It is thought this is the first time in the history of the Southern Illinois Conference that a father has retired and his son entered the Methodist ministry at the same conference. ## Crippled Husband, Three in His Family Killed in Rifle Rampage by Young Bride

HAMMOND, Ind. (U.P.) — Police said today a pretty young bride may not realize she killed her paraplegic veteran husband and three members of his family in a wild rampage with a rifle.

The bride, Mrs. Opal Collins, 25, was to be arraigned in Lake County Criminal Court on first degree murder charges today for her Saturday night killing spree. She shot her crippled husband as he frantically tried to get away in his wheelchair.

Police said she calmly admitted shooting her husband, Ben C. Collins Jr., 28, his mother, Mrs. Julia Collins, 48, and her husband's two sisters, Mary Sue, 11, and Martha Ann, 14.

But police couldn't be sure she realized they were dead.

Often, she would ask "How are they?" as if they had merely been wounded and were recovering in a hospital, police said.

Predict 110 Auto Fatalities During Memorial Day Holiday

CHICAGO (U.P.) — The National Safety Council predicted today that 110 persons will die in traffic accidents during the one-day Memorial Day holiday Wednesday.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

If it be possible, as much as in you lie, be at peace with all men.
Romans 12:18.

They stoned Paul and beat him with rods and drove him from their cities, but he loved them any way;
and strove for peace to the end.

The President's Reading

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

An impression exists in some places that President Eisenhower's reading consists wholly of Westerns and a quick skimming of the daily newspapers.

Apparently that's well wide of the mark.

In a review of the President's reading habits, Newsweek magazine found that he plows a lot of ground. Furthermore, he's one of those who often reacts strongly to what he reads, underlining passages and jotting marginal notes.

Naturally, we aren't talking here
of the formal government documents, congressional bills and the like which any President must read of necessity. Nor do we speak of the more informal daily intelligence summaries planted on his desk by top agencies.

The interest is in what Mr. Eisenhower does to inform himself beyond the compulsory level on the state of the country and the world, and what he does to extend his knowledge of other times and places.

According to Newsweek he gets through eight newspapers a day and reads a couple of general news magazines as well. Now and again he takes the time to dip into the Congressional Record to see what the lawmakers are thinking.

That effort alone ought to win
him half a dozen oak leaf clusters
from the American Library Association.

Evidently he still feels too close to World War II to read many accounts of that. But he has a great fondness for history in general, and the Civil War period in particular. And his favorite fiction is the historical variety.

He doesn't stop, either, with the generalized accounts, but seeks out the real sources, like the collection of Lincoln's papers.

A further sign of how his reading interest works is his reported habit of indulging in what is called "collateral" reading—additional dipping in on topics about which his curiosity has been piqued.

"Like" has a lot of the standard literary classics on his shelves,
but not much is said on how often he takes one down.

As for lighter fare, his aides
maintain he turns to Westerns mostly to change the pace. And he is said to have little taste at all for detective yarns.

Mr. Eisenhower's critics undoubtedly still insist that his public utterances, formal and otherwise, show surprising gaps in information they think a President ought to have.

However that may be, this look at his reading suggests that he is far from the superficial skimmer some would paint him. He seems not only to seek out the printed word, but to take more than ordinary delight in it.

Hairy Canine

The shaggy dog known as a Lhasa Apso is a rare Tibetan terrier that probably has more hair per square inch than any other dog in the United States. Although only about 10 inches tall, he has almost enough hair to cover a St.
Bernard.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Californians Worry Over Ad-
lai's Record On Old-Age Pensions; Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt And King Defend
Stevenson; California Oldsters
Endorse Kefauver, Criticize Stevenson.

WASHINGTON. — Long-distance
telephone lines have been burning up between California, Chicago and Washington over the question of Adlai Stevenson's record on old-age pensions when he was governor of Illinois.

First to pick up the telephone were Pat Brown, attorney general of California, and Paul Ziffren of Los Angeles, both top strategists of Adlai's California campaign.
They called Dick Finnegan, Ad-lai's campaign manager in Chicago, to say that George McLain, powerful leader of the old-age pension movement in southern California, had published in his "National Welfare Advocate" a scathing review of Governor Stevenson's pension record, showing that he had vetoed a bill for a 10 per cent raise in Illinois' aid to the needy.

Brown and Ziffren were worried over what this would do to the vote for Stevenson in southern California.

Dick Finnegan promptly did some telephoning of his own. He called Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt and Cecil King, both from southern California, both Stevenson delegates, and both friends of older-champion George McLain.

Roosevelt and King promptly
buttonholed McLain in Washington. They were in a good position to do this because both have introduced his bill to overhaul the entire public assistance section of the Social Security Act. This pertains to aid for the aged, the needy, the blind, the physically handicapped, and dependent children.

What puts Stevenson somewhat on the spot is that Senator Kefauver is the sponsor of this same bill in the Senate.

Quite a hassle followed between McLain, King and Roosevelt, despite the fact that McLain has been a staunch backer of both congressmen, and went down the line
for Jimmy Roosevelt for governor in 1950.

Finally McLain compromised by publishing a statement by Congressman King praising Stevenson's record for old-age pensions.
McLain also omitted a previously planned account of Stevenson's record in okaying the "shame
list."

However, McLain also ran a full-page photo of Kefauver on page 1 of his paper over the caption "Kefauver — Friend of the Needy," while on the editorial page he ran a letter from Warren
Lamson, president of the Illinois
Pension Union giving Stevenson's record on pensions and on the shame list. The latter is the list of oldsters receiving government aid, which is made public in Illinois, and which oldsters bitterly resent.

When McLain was asked by this writer why this information had not come out regarding Stevenson
in the 1952 campaign, he replied:
"I did not know about it until I spoke in Chicago this spring and was shown pictures of members of the Illinois Pension Union picketing the executive mansion when Stevenson was governor. I then investigated the record in Springfield and published it as soon thereafter as I could."

"My organization has 23 radio stations in California which are broadcasting the Stevenson record
—almost every day."

DEFENSE OF STEVENSON
Congressmen Roosevelt and King, defending Governor Stevenson, said: "On 134 occasions in four years the Republican legislature of Illinois tried to pass bills for roads, bridges, pensions without appropriating one cent to finance them. Governor Stevenson insisted that the funds be appropriated before he would approve the bills."

The facts, as tabulated by the California Institute of Social Welfare, are that on Aug. 3, 1951, Stevenson vetoed House bill No.
85 providing for a 10 per cent increase for "food, clothing, and personal incidentals" for the aged and the needy.

But one month earlier, June 30, 1951, he vetoed amendment 2 of Senate bill 556 carrying a $14,300-100 appropriation to pay for this 10 per cent increase. Thus he vetoed both the appropriation and the authorization.

On July 28, 1951, Stevenson signed Senate bill No. 485 which required each county department of welfare to publish monthly reports of those receiving pensions, disability assistance, blind assistance, and aid to dependent children. This is called the "shame list" and was passed contingent upon passage of a similar law by the Congress in Washington.

On Oct. 1, 1951, Congress passed the Jenner amendment which retitled the "shame list" in Illinois.

ILLINOIS VS. CALIFORNIA
The California Institute of Social Welfare also compiled figures showing that pensioners in Illinois received an average of $60.50 a month, as against California's average of $70.11; that Illinois requires a lien on the oldest's home while California doesn't;
that Illinois allows a single person to have only $400 in personal property and $600 for married couples, while California permits

$1,200 for a single person and $2-000 for married couples.

Stevenson gave as one reason for vetoing the increased assistance
bill in 1951 the fact that oldsters and blind people had an effective lobby while the children did not.
Children were omitted from the bill.

He has also said: "We ought to work out a system that encourages an older person to work if he wants to instead of discouraging
him. We ought to have a program for training young people who have finished their regular work to do things they want to—things for which their age will be an advantage instead of a handicap."

"It is high time we started rebuilding the central idea that we want to make life meaningful and worth while, all the way through."

Egyptian Health Dep't News

The Egyptian Health Department office in the Clinic building was the setting for an important meeting on May 24. The subject discussed was School-Community
Program Planning and the Egyptian Health Department area was chosen because of the vast amount of work the health department had done in the schools this school year. According to state-wide statistics the volume of work done in the schools of White, Saline, and Gallatin counties by health department workers exceeds that done
in any other area of the state of comparable size.

The county-wide visual and hearing programs, immunization programs for diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, smallpox, typhoid fever, tuberculosis testing and polio, nutrition programs in some of the schools were all discussed. The cumulative records for each child kept by the school was also discussed at great length.

People attending the meeting were Miss Agnes Schmaeng, nursing supervisor, Alexander-Pulaski
Bi-County Health Department, Carrier; Mrs. Mae Whipple, nursing supervisor, Lawrence-Wabash Bi-County Health Department, Mrs.
Maxine Jackson, staff nurse, Lawrenceville; Mrs. Donnie Parkhill, Illinois Association for the Prevention of Blindness, nursing consultant, Murphysboro; Pearl Bayne, Chief, Bureau of School Health,
Illinois Department of Public Health, Springfield; and the entire Egyptian Health Department staff consisting of Mrs. Mable Grumley Burton, nursing supervisor for the three counties, Mrs. Ruby S. Turner
and Mrs. Vivian Barton Kotner, staff nurses for Saline county, Miss Marion Matthews, staff nurse for Gallatin county, Mrs. Marjorie Beck Whitson, staff nurse for White county, and Guy Hunter, health educator for the Egyptian Health Department.

Nine Forest Fires Threaten English Towns

LONDON (AP)—Nine forest fires swept through England's parched thatched-roof country Sunday and today, threatening towns and blocking communications.

The worst blaze laid 2,000 acres waste in Dorset, some 100 miles southwest of London and famed as the "Wessex" country of Thomas Hardy's novels. Some of the fires were expected to burn for several more days.

South Carolina began free school instruction for white students in 1710, and for Negroes before 1750.

Open Talks on Demands by Steelworkers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers handed "major economics" demands to U. S. Steel Corp. today at the opening session of industrywide contract negotiations posing a far-reaching effect on the nation's economy.

The chief negotiators for both sides expressed hope for a speedy settlement well ahead of the July 1 strike deadline on contracts covering 650,000 workers in the basic steel industry.

U. S. Steel, the nation's No. 1 producer, as usual led off the talks which eventually will be extended to 172 basic steel and iron ore producers employing more than half of the USW's 1,200,000 members.

The union's principal goals are a "substantial" wage increase, 52-weeks supplemental unemployment pay, premium pay for weekend work, an expanded health insurance program wholly financed by employers. The USW also included a union shop in its list of 23 proposals for contracts expiring at midnight June 30.

The bargaining talks opened with steel industry production still at capacity or near capacity levels but with many firms facing declining demand due to automobile industry cutbacks in orders for the third quarter starting June 1. The industry remained confident, however, of finishing 1956 with banner profits and high production.

Bechtel is Elected President of National Boy Scouts Council

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Kenneth K. Bechtel, newly elected president of the National Boy Scouts Council, predicts that "most of us will live to see 10 million Boy Scouts in this country."

Bechtel, who joined the Boy Scouts at Oakland, Calif., 35 years ago, made the prediction following a report by Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, chief scout executive, that membership climbed over the 3 million mark at the end of 1955.

Schuck said troop membership totaled 1,339,796, which included 1,142,396 Boy Scouts and 257,000 explorers.

Bechtel succeeds John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay, N. Y., as president of the council. Schiff was elected honorary vice president. Norton Clapp of Seattle, Wash., was elected vice president and Gerald F. Beal of New York City, treasurer.

Wiley, Refused Endorsement, to Seek 4th Term

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Veteran Sen. Alexander Wiley set out today to win a fourth term in the face of a party revolt and the surprise candidacy of a young congressman who has never been beaten.

The 72-year-old Republican came back fighting after the state GOP convention, in a dramatic turnabout, refused to endorse him for renomination in Milwaukee Saturday.

"I have never been more confident," Wiley told the United Press as he set out to win the party's September primary over 41-year-old Rep. Glenn Davis, the convention's choice.

"The voters of Wisconsin will elect a senator — not a few kingmakers," he said.

On the morning after his convention defeat, Wiley said, "before I got out of bed county chairmen were calling me. Many said that the convention's action means 100,000 more votes in the primary."

The Wiley-Davis battle may well be fought on the issue of Wiley's whole-hearted support of President Eisenhower's foreign policy. Wiley is the ranking minority member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and has backed administration foreign aid policies to the hilt.

Davis is regarded as a conservative in foreign affairs. He voted against the administration's foreign aid bill last year.

Senate Opens Debate on Super Highway Bill
By United Press
The Senate opened debate on its super highway bill today.
The vast road-building program — first of its kind — would call for construction of a 40,000-mile network of state highways to link up 42 state capitals and most larger cities across the nation.
Under the Senate bill, the federal government would put up 25 billion dollars of the cost of the interstate network with the states splitting up the other 2½ billion. Existing taxes on gasoline, tires, buses, trucks and trailers would be hiked to help pay the bill.
The first and probably the major fight was over apportioning the federal funds among the states.
The House had voted to distribute federal funds on the basis of cost estimates submitted by the states. But the Senate public works committee, in its bill, substituted formulas based on state population, area and road mileage.

Quints Observe 22nd Birthday

MONTREAL, Que. (UP) — The four surviving Dionne quintuplets celebrated their 22nd birthday today. But where they were no one seemed to know.

Some reports said the girls were at Nicolet, Que., where one of them, Annette, is studying music, but there was no confirmation.

L. M. Edwards, a trust company official who frequently advises the girls, said only that they planned to meet somewhere outside of Montreal.

It was believed the meeting would be held near here, however, for the convenience of Marie, the business woman of the four who opened a flower shop here eight days ago.

Buller and Hall in Sharp Debate on Military Service Feud as Election Issue

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democrats today were building up an election issue out of the feud between the military services.

Democratic national chairman, Paul M. Butler, sounded the theme of the attack Sunday during a nationally televised debate with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall (American Forum, NBC).

Butler said "the American people are concerned" over "the constant squabbling among the military sections of our Defense Department." He accused President Eisenhower of failing to exercise proper "control or supervision" over the military.

He also charged there has been "a total failure" on the part of the President to live up to the 1952 Republican platform promise to strip the Defense Department "clean of conflict."

Hall took sharp issue with these statements. He retorted that in military matters the people trust "former General" Eisenhower more than they do "General Butler or General Symington." Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) was secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration and is now chairman of a Senate Armed Services Committee which will investigate the inter-service row.

The feud involves basic questions as to what roles each of the services will play in future wars which will be fought with radically advanced weapons. One phase of the row is the Army's contention that the Air Force is getting too much of the budget dollar and that too much reliance is being put on air power and nuclear bombs.

Hall said he agreed with Mr. Eisenhower that some "argument" among the military is healthy. He also recalled that under the Truman administration there was a Pentagon feud between the Navy and Air Force.

Coal Industry Opposes Gov't A-Power Plants

WASHINGTON (UP) — The coal industry today strongly opposed legislation for a "crash" government program to build atomic power generators.

Tom Pickett, former Texas congressman and executive vice president of the National Coal Assn., said in testimony prepared for the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee that there is no current need for a new source of power.

He also said construction of government-owned nuclear power plants would be a departure from free enterprise and a "long stride toward complete socialism."

Pickett was one of several scheduled witnesses as the subcommittee resumed hearings on a proposal by Sen. Albert Gore D-Tenn. for an immediate government program to build six power reactors to generate electricity.

Pickett said "the coal industry does not oppose the government's present program for orderly research and development of experimental nuclear power plants."

But he said no "crash" program is needed.

Learn of Death of Rev. Dick Ferrell, Former Resident

Word has been received in Harrisburg of the death of the Rev. Richard F. (Dick) Ferrell, former Harrisburg resident, living in Spokane, Wash., at the time of his death.

Death occurred Tuesday, May 15, and burial services were held Friday, May 18. Rev. Ferrell died from a heart attack.

He had been an Inland Empire Presbyterian missionary for 40 years, his missionary career taking him to lumberjack camps in eastern Washington, northern Idaho and parts of Montana. He organized Sunday schools in isolated areas for the children of lumberjacks.

Rev. Ferrell had done considerable evangelistic work throughout the northwest and was a graduate of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. He was listed in the International "Who's Who" in 1943.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ferrell of Harrisburg and as a young man gained considerable recognition as an athlete, playing semi-professional baseball and boxing under the colors of the Missouri Athletic Club.

The last trip the Ferrell family made to Harrisburg was five years ago. He had preached from the pulpit of the Harrisburg Presbyterian church on several occasions.

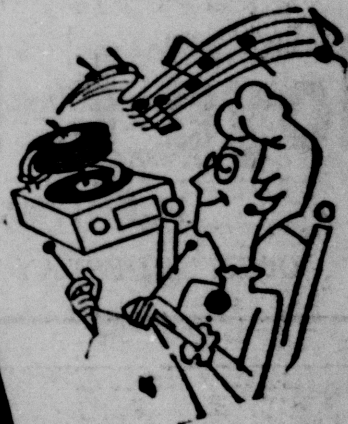

Word of Rev. Ferrell's death was received by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Thompson, close family friends.

Four Persons Drown in Illinois

By United Press
Four persons, including a father and daughter whose canoe plunged over a dam, drowned in Illinois waterways Sunday.
Clem Boltorff, 42, Harvey, and his 15-year-old daughter, Sharon, drowned in the Kankakee River when their boat's engine apparently sheered a pin.
The boat went out of control and was swept into and over a dam below Joliet. Two companions, Clara Stanley, 14, Phoenix, and Harold Holler, 5, Harvey, escaped. Bennie Krupski, 36, Chicago, drowned in Round Lake while trying to save his girl friend and William King, 12, Chicago, died in the Cal-Sag Canal near Chicago.
Krupski's boat overturned during a race. His girl friend, Virginia Petteli, and two other occupants of the boat were saved.
The King boy apparently panicked and jumped from his father's power boat when it was rocked by the opening of a lock gate. He drowned even though he was wearing a life jacket.

Briggle Throws Out Gov't Claim Against Farmer

SPRINGFIELD — Federal Judge Charles C. Briggle said today "confusion reigns supreme" in federal farm programs, and threw out a federal claim for $50 against Greenville farmer C. Orville Smith.
The government attempted to collect the $50 from Smith as premium for federal crop insurance for 1953-54. But Smith, who defended himself in court, said he wrote to Agriculture Department officials that he didn't want the insurance.
The farmer admitted signing some forms presented as evidence in the trial, but said, "they bring those forms out every year, and I sign them, but I don't know what they mean."
"Besides," he said, "if I did have the crop insurance the government owes me $150, because my wheat crop was damaged."
Briggle ruled that Smith had filed adequate notice for discontinuance of the insurance and said in an aside: "I know how to handle these matters, but I can't say so in court."

Former Congressman Fish Denies He Ever Collaborated in Nazi Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department has released captured German documents stating that a "well-known Republican congressman" collaborated with Nazi propagandists in 1940 to build up isolationist influence at the GOP convention.
The long-secret documents, released late Saturday, did not name the congressman. They also referred to a need for funds totaling over $50,000 to help finance the congressman's activities.
However, the documents did not directly allege the German Embassy actually supplied any money.
One message from the German Embassy in Washington to the Nazi Foreign Ministry in Berlin referred to the Republican congressman as a sponsor of a "Keep America Out of War" newspaper advertisement. A footnote by State Department historians said "such an advertisement appeared in the New York Times for June 25, 1940."
The advertisement appeared over the signature of a "Keep Out of War" committee headed by Hamilton Fish, then a Republican congressman from New York and a leader of the isolationist movement.
Fish, who is now living in retirement here, said he recalled the advertisement. But he emphatically denied he ever "collaborated" with German Embassy propaganda officials or ever received "one cent" of financial support from "German sources."

A safety device known as the "dead man's switch," halted the train immediately when the engineer's foot left the controls. None of the passengers on the crowded train was aware of the death.

Miss Alice McSparin Named Student Nurse of Year at Alton School

A Stonefort girl, Miss Alice McSparin, has been chosen by the student body of Alton Memorial hospital school of nursing as "Student Nurse of the Year."
Miss McSparin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos McSparin, has also been honored by being selected as a candidate for President of the Tenth district. The election of officers will be held soon.

Bandit Enters Home At Mount Carmel, Robs Three TV Fans

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. — A masked bandit invaded a home and robbed three television fans of $15 Sunday night.
The bandit wore a brightly colored Chinese mask and carried what appeared to be a gun covered with a dirty rag.
The victims were Mrs. Mame Erbe, Jess Seitz and Mrs. Allie Seitz. They were watching TV at Mrs. Erbe's home when the bandit entered.

Tugmen Strike

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Tugmen went on strike in 15 Great Lakes ports today, "hampering and slowing" ore and freight traffic on the five lakes.
Negotiations for a new one-year contract failed Sunday night and President Patrick J. Cullinan Jr. of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective Assn. ordered the walkout.

The Angry Hills

XXXIV

Mike looked up at the faces of three angry men in the cellar of Gyni's. They were furious because he had permitted emotions to complicate his grave situation. They lashed out at him for forcing them to risk the daylight ambush. They demanded he turn over the Stereogun list, insisting that he had bungled long enough.

Mike refused, unless Lisa and her sons were permitted to leave Greece with him.

Michalis, Thanassis and Dr. Thackeray were faced with the choice of executing both of them and losing the Stereogun list or getting the four of them out of Greece.

The beam of a flashlight pierced the darkness of the wine cellar. Mike could make out the stocky form of Michalis and the long thin form of Dr. Thackeray as they threaded their way through the rows of wine kegs.

"Very well, Morrison," Dr. Thackeray said. "A British submarine will pick you up within 48 hours."

"The children?" Lisa asked.

"They are safe. They will join you once we get you clear of Athens," Michalis said.

"If we get clear of Athens," Dr. Thackeray added, "Heilser has the city closed tighter than a drum. Nothing can get through the blockade. You have only a 50-50 chance, Morrison. You also have 48 hours to reconsider turning the list over to us. We will hide you and Lisa in the hills."

"Not on your life, Dr. Thackeray."

"All right—we try for the submarine. I hope we can clear you out of Athens."

"Wait a minute," Mike said. "Wait just a minute. I may possibly have an idea . . ."

A short time later, Julius Chesney drummed his fingers slowly on the table. He looked at Thanassis dubiously. "You make it very difficult, dear fellow. If it wasn't for the money . . ."

"That's why I came to you with this proposition. I've heard of your love for drachmas."

Julius Chesney's jaws quivered as he emitted his nasty little laugh. "Agreed," he said.

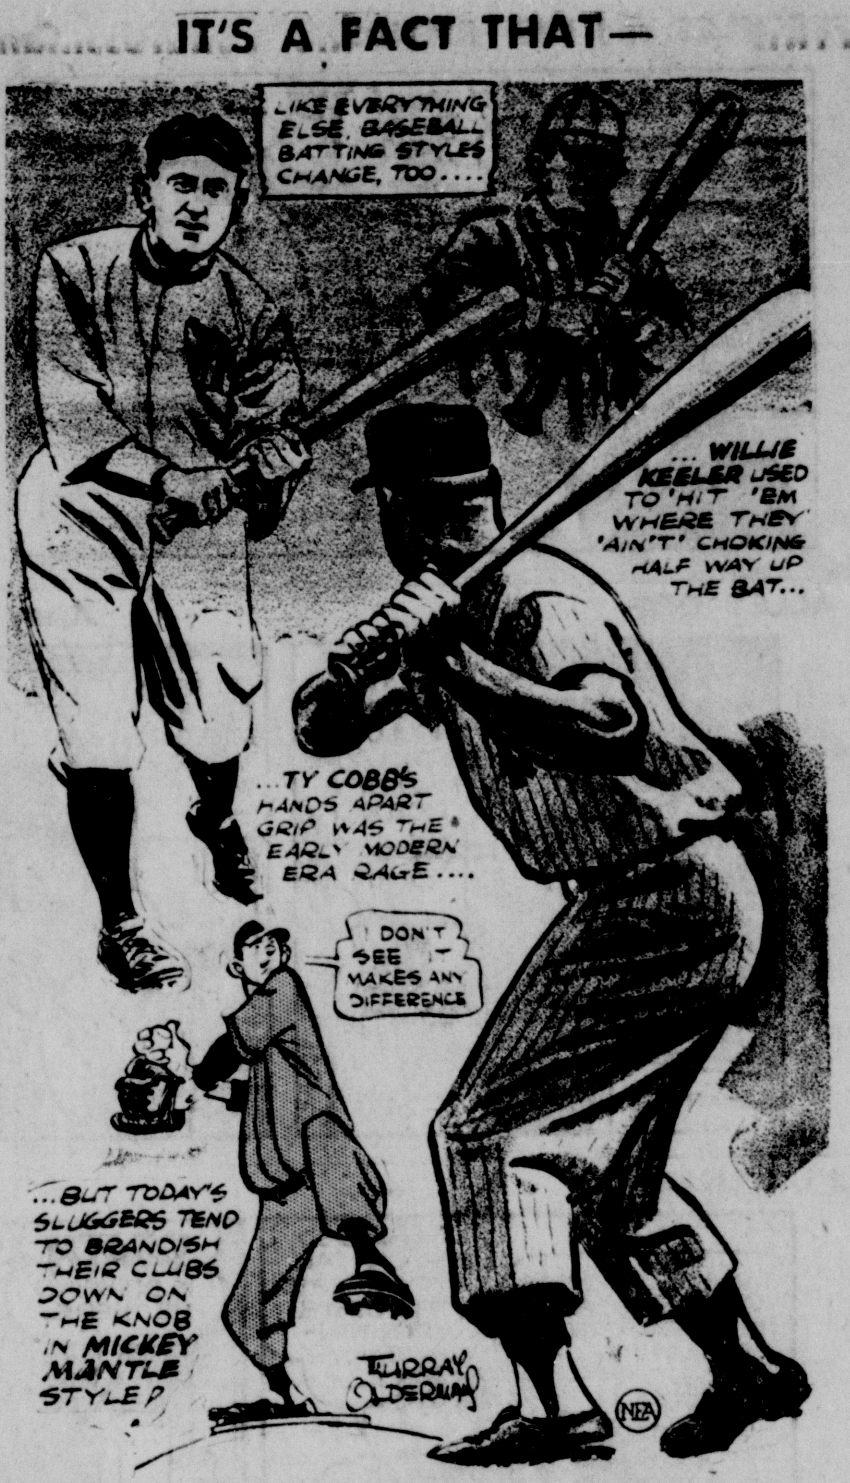

"And half of what you collect from the Germans belongs to me," Thanassis said.

"Agreed," Chesney nodded.

"Here is the information to date, then. Morrison and Lisa Kyriakides are now in Athens. I do not know where, inasmuch as I have not seen Michalis since he made the ambush. A British submarine will be here to get them sometime within 48 hours."

Chesney nodded.

Thanassis continued. "I will give you their route from Athens and contact point with the submarine just as soon as I learn it."

DOWNSTATE FISHERMAN'S GUIDE: Bass Fishing Slows; Bluegill, Crappie Fair; Spear Men Active

By PETE BROWN

(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation)

Southern Illinois' largemouth bass population has gone into almost complete seclusion now at the height of the spawning season and their fans are not finding the search for alternatives much more exciting.

Bluegill fishing remains good to fair at Horseshoe, Crab Orchard, Little Grassy and Murphysboro, but the size of the fish is not much better than "medium." A full Sunday census at Lake Murphysboro showed 138 bluegill caught by 45 fishermen in 195 hours of fishing. Plug fishermen might as well have stayed home. Three men tried it for 11 hours and brought back one 16 inch largemouth.

Crappie fishing seems to have slowed down at Horseshoe as well as Crab Orchard, but results at Little Grassy are reported "good." One exception was a haul by two anonymous Crab Orchard fishermen, consisting of 51 eight to 12 inch white crappie.

Little Grassy is clear and Crab Orchard is clearing up. A water temperature check on Crab Orchard May 23 proved surprising: 76 degrees at the Wolf Creek Bridge and 75 degrees at Lookout Point.

Meanwhile spear and bow-and-arrow men are hard after the spawning carp, currently churning up the shallows of southern Illinois lakes. Plenty of action has been found for this type of sport in the Crab Orchard necks near Cambria. Prowling the shoreline, wading through the shallows or drifting close to the weeds in canoes, spear-men watch for the rolling action of carp or the freshly muddied water, which signifies the activity. A two or three pronged gig held to a length of aluminum conduit is a simple, easy-to-carry homemade rig for carp spearing. The fish is evasive and deceptively fast, which makes the catch considerably harder than it would seem. And a 10 or 15 pound carp puts up a spirited battle. A favorite method of arrow fishermen is to attach the arrow to a spinning reel line.

State Fish Management Service men have shock-surveyed Lake Hillsboro and The Big Four Lake near Hillsboro at the request of the local Kiwanis club. Unofficial observations revealed an overpopulation of bluegill and crappie, and an abundance of rough fish and an encouraging bass sampling. One carp caught weighed 44 pounds. A six pound bass was also found.

The State Conservation Department has turned loose 800 pounds of crappie, striped bass, drum perch and catfish in Lake Miller north of Mt. Vernon. Many of the crappie went in at over a pound.

Federal Farm Planner Dwight Esarey reports dozens of requests for pond fish stock from Wayne county farmers. The State Conservation Department supplies the fingerlings without charge but checks to see that an adequate supply of food exists in the ponds.

First Night Game at New Park Wednesday

The first night baseball game at Harrisburg's new lighted park is scheduled for Wednesday, Memorial Day, starting at 8 p. m.

This will be the first time the lights have been turned on for regular play at the new park and a large crowd is expected for the inaugural night game.

Work of constructing the park began last summer and the playing field was in condition for the start of the 1956 baseball season. Several games have already been played at the park, including games of the high school district tournament. The park is located just across the road from the county fairgrounds.

The Wednesday night game is a Coal Belt league contest featuring Harrisburg and Christopher. Coal Belt baseball is for teen-age players only.

Saturday night the Legion-Stars will be host to the Red Caps, a Negro team from Nashville, Tenn. Yesterday afternoon Harrisburg travelled to Herrin for a Coal Belt loop contest and lost a 5-3 decision. Hatcher and Mitchell pitched for Harrisburg, with Cowger catching. Herrin's battery was Jones and Smith.

Trip Off Again

WASHINGTON — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson's on-again, off-again tour of Midwest drought areas was postponed again Sunday night.

At the last minute, an aide said in Washington that official duties would keep Benson in the capital. It was the third time the trip has been postponed.

Musial Swings the 'Big Stick' As Cardinals Defeat Cubs Twice; Braves Beat Reds

By United Press

Old pro Stan Musial shared the credit with a pair of kid pitchers today for keeping the St. Louis Cardinals breathing down the Milwaukee Braves' necks in the bunched up National league pennant race.

The 35-year old Musial knocked in a total of seven runs and had four hits in six at bats Sunday to swing the "big stick" in the Cardinals' 11-9 and 12-2 triumphs over the Chicago Cubs. But Stan's slugging might not have been enough except for the fine hurling of 20-year old Lindy McDaniel and 25-year old Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell.

McDaniel, a $40,000 bonus baby from Hollis, Okla., stopped the Cubs with one run in the last 4 2-3 innings of the opener to gain credit for his fourth victory without a loss. Then Mizell, back after a two-year hitch in the Army, fired overpowering five-hit and 10-strikeout ball in the nightcap to increase his season's record to 4-2.

Braves Beat Redlegs

The victories left the Cardinals 12 percentage points behind the first-place Braves, who beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 7-2, although St. Louis has a theoretical half-game bulge in the "games behind" column.

Musial, who increased his average to .292, had two singles in the opener and broke an 8-8 tie cap with a single in the fifth. In the night cap, he blasted a double and a three-run homer, knocking in four runs.

The Braves clung to first place by beating the Redlegs for the fifth time in seven meetings or the strength of a 14-hit attack that chased Art Fowler in four innings. Frank Torre had four hits and Hank Aaron three to lead the Braves' assault. Lew Burdette with relief aid from Dave Jolly picked up his third win of the season.

In the American league, the New York Yankees were rained out but maintained their 3 1/2 game first-place lead when the three other first-division teams split double headers.

Pitches Five-Hitter

Early Wynn pitched a five-hitter to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-2 decision after the Chicago White Sox pulled out a 15-inning 5-4 triumph in the first game. It was the fifth victory of the year for Wynn, who topped Tribe pitcher Jack Harshman. Jim Wilson, obtained last week from Baltimore, scored his first victory for the White Sox in the opener when he singled in the winning run in the 15th frame of a four-hour and 52-minute struggle.

Tom Brewer homered and hunted on for his sixth win as the Boston Red Sox won their opener, 9-7, by Roy Sievers drove in four runs including the game-winner in the 10th inning as the Washington Senators won the nightcap, 11-10.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service
ANTHONY van Leeuwenhoek is credited with being the first man to look at a drop of water under a microscope. Anton was born in 1632 in Delft, Holland, and he early developed the hobby of grinding lenses out of bits of glass. Young Anton found the drop of water teeming with living, moving things he called "beasties." Other scientists went on to determine the good and bad character of the many microbes which live in such a common little place as a drop of clear water.
All of us might do well to train the magnifying lens of our minds on the intellectual and spiritual drops of water we take into our systems day after day. We should probably be shocked at the "beasties" which constantly inculcate our minds and souls.
We all believe in friendship, but should we welcome into our homes persons who are determined to destroy the love and happiness of family fellowship? There are many people who offer us something for nothing, but who really demand our lives. Materialism can destroy us if we are not aware of higher spiritual values in everyday living. Selfishness, dishonesty and indifference are all around us, and offer such an easy way of life.
We should discover the little "beasties" all around us which would weaken us, sap our energies and leave us helpless. We should find and nurture the little "antibodies" of Christian teaching which make life worth while.

Returns from Title Convention

Don Scott recently returned from Springfield where he attended the annual convention of the Illinois Title Association held at Hotel Abraham Lincoln May 23, 24 and 25. The Association is composed of abstractors and title examiners for the state of Illinois.
Mr. Scott is from District 8 which was one of the two districts which served as host to the convention. He was a member of the social committee.
Elected president was Miss Frances Elfrand of Bloomington who is with the McLeon County Abstract Company. The program consisted of addresses on title examinations, abstracting and real estate developments.
Mr. Scott was accompanied to the convention by Mrs. Scott.
